International Business Development Executive

M.A. National Security and Strategic Studies, U.S. Naval War College
B.S. Physical Science, U.S. Naval Academy

Dave Fluker is Insitu's International Business Development Executive responsible for Insitu's regional campaigns in the Middle East, Africa and Europe. He leads the efforts in these regions to provide enhanced solutions and capabilities for our global customer base. Prior to joining Insitu, Dave served for over 30 years as a U.S. Navy pilot. He commanded a Navy squadron and the amphibious assault ships USS Essex (LHD-2) and USS Bonhomme Richard (LHD-6). He served globally at sea and participated in numerous combat operations. His other assignments include Naval Air Forces, the Institute for Defense Analyses (IDA), the office of International Engagement for the Chief of Naval Operations in the Pentagon, and the Navy International Programs Office in Washington, DC. Dave holds a Master of Arts degree in National Security and Strategic Studies from the U.S. Naval War College, and a Bachelor of Science degree from the U.S. Naval Academy. In addition to his formal degrees, Dave also completed a Senior Executives Program at the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University. Dave lives in Alexandria, Virginia, where he enjoys cycling and spending time with his family.
