

Jean Adrian Iacob

Executive Director, Romania and Western Balkans
Lockheed Martin Global Business Development

Prior to joining Lockheed Martin International as Executive Director in 4th July 1997, Adrian worked in the aviation simulation and training industry, where, based on his aeronautic engineer's background, he was in charge with developing flight models for helicopters, avionics architecture design and cockpit ergonomic development.

Adrian has an engineering degree in aeronautics and several post university courses in areas related to aviation and research management.