

JOAQUIN D. GLOMSKI
International Strategic Development
General Atomics Aeronautical Systems, Inc.

As Regional Director at General Atomics Aeronautical Systems, Inc (GA-ASI), Mr. Glomski is responsible for promoting opportunities for the company's full line of remotely piloted aircraft systems, radars, electro-optical, and related mission systems to customers worldwide.

Prior to joining General Atomics, Mr. Glomski served in the U.S. Air Force where he retired after a 20-year career as a Lieutenant Colonel. He most recently served as a Country Director at the Defense Security Cooperation Agency where he executed policy for the Office of the Secretary of Defense to include weapons export, foreign technology transfer, national disclosure, and building partnership capability programs.

Previously, he served tours in aviation units supporting A-10, E-3, EC-130, HH-60, and KC-135 aircraft. His last operational assignment was with the E-3A NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control Force where he Commanded a multinational squadron of military and civilian personnel from 16 allied nations and was responsible for the Component's fleet of E-3A aircraft.

Mr. Glomski is a graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy And e also holds a Master of Business Administration degree from Troy University and a Master of Arts in International Security Studies degree from Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, California.